Top 5 reasons to Invest now in Corporate FDs

01 RBI paused the rate hike

RBI paused the repo rate for the third consecutive time in the August 2023 (MPC) meeting

02

Banks have started cutting interest rates on FDs

Many banks have started reducing rates on FDs. It is expected that Corporates may soon follow the suit

03

Further rate hike unlikely

As per market experts, possibility of any further repo rate hike in the near future is very unlikely

04

Inflation has cooled down

The real rate of return on FD is in the positive territory as inflation has cooled down

05

Tax advantage of Debt MF no longer exists

From FY24, the tax advantage that Debt MFs had over FDs has ended, as both are taxed at marginal tax rate now

Certain products -including those involving futures, options and other derivatives as well as non-investment grade securities - involve substantial risk and are not suitable for all investors. Reports based on technical analysis centers on studying charts of a stock's price movement and trading volume, as opposed to focusing on a company's fundamentals and as such, may not match with a report on a company's fundamentals.

Before making an investment decision on the basis of this report, the reader needs to consider, with or without the assistance of an adviser, whether the advice is appropriate in light of their particular investment needs, objectives and financial circumstances. There are risks involved in securities trading. The price of securities can and does fluctuate, and an individual security may even become valueless. International investors are reminded of the additional risks inherent in international investments, such as currency fluctuations and international stock market or economic conditions, which may adversely affect the value of the investment. Neither TCFSL nor the director or the employee of TCFSL accepts any liability whatsoever for any direct, indirect, consequential or other loss arising from any use of this report and/or further communication in relation to this report.

We and our affiliates, officers, directors, and employees worldwide may: (a) from time to time, have long or short positions in, and buy or sell the securities thereof, of company (ies) mentioned herein or (b) be engaged in any other transaction involving such securities and earn brokerage or other compensation or act as a market maker in the financial instruments of the company (ies) discussed herein or act as advisor or lender / borrower to such company (ies) or have other potential conflict of interest with respect to any recommendation and related information and opinions.

Investments in securities are subject to market risk; please read the SEBI prescribed Combined Risk Disclosure Document prior to investing. Derivatives are a sophisticated investment device. The investor is requested to take into consideration all the risk factors before actually trading in derivative contracts.
